EDWARDS A SUICIDE

So Decides Coroner After Thoroughly Investigating New Haven Case.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 8.—Suicide by means of both bullet and poison is the explanation given by Coroner Mix for the death of Charles Edwards of New York City at the Hiller homestead here on Tuesday night last. The finding is contained in a preliminary report to State's Attorney Williams and is based in part on the discovery of morphine in the body of Mr. Edwards by Medical Examiner Bartlett and the surgeons who performed the autopsy. The finding is supported by some portions of the evidence taken at the inquest, which extended through five days and which is not yet completed.

The preliminary report is made at this time to relieve public suspense and Coroner Mix adds that Mr. Edwards' death probably was one of the most remarkable on record. The theory of suicide appears not to have been held by the coroner until Saturday, when detectives unearthed in the shrubbery near the Hiller house a .22 caliber revolver and a half-pint bottle containing a quantity of laudanum. Until that time, and in absence of a report on the chemical analysis of the viscera, the weight of evidence taken by Coroner Mix was that Mr. Edwards had been murdered.

A. Maxey Hiller took his release from surveillance calmly, but denied himself to all callers. By advice of his counsel he has refused to make any statement whatever. Some of the strongest evidence is understood to be startling almost beyond belief, the coroner himself admitting this. For this reason it is not expected that State's Attorney Williams will allow the evidence to be opened for publication.

THREE MEN BREAK JAIL

JAILOR AT FORT COLLINS BEATEN INTO INSENSIBILITY—A POSSE IS IN PURSUIT.

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Jan. 8.—Three men, two awaiting trial and one serving sentence, broke out of the county jail here tonight and are at large. They had secured access to the jail corridor by removing three iron bars and digging a hole through a wall. As Jailor Blackwell passed through the door leading to the corridor from the outside to serve the prisoners their supper he was pounced upon by the three men and beaten into unconsciousness. The men then ran into the hall and through the outer door into the street. A few minutes after the attack Blackwell recovered his senses and gave the alarm. The sheriff quickly summoned a posse who started pursuit, traveling in an automobile. All surrounding towns were notified of the break and very soon a report came from Laporte, a few miles away, that three men answering the description of the escaped prisoners had been seen on the road leading into the town. A portion of the posse at once headed for Laporte. The men are Frank McKinney, awaiting trial on the charge of burglary and larceny; John Clouse, charged with assault with intent to kill, and Frank Colburn, serving sentence for stealing a bicycle.

PRUDENTIAL ELECTS BOARD OF DIRECTORS

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 8.—The stockholders of the Prudential Insurance company today re-elected fourteen members of the board of directors and elected R. V. Lindbury as the fifteenth member of the board in place of Edgar B. Ward, resigned. At a meeting of the board of directors held later, Forrest F. Dryden was advanced to second vice president, as successor to Mr. Ward, retired, and Jacob E. Ward, who has ranked as a counsel of the company, was made third vice president in place of Mr. Dryden.

T. W. LAWSON PROBABLY WILL TESTIFY IN OIL INVESTIGATION

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Henry H. Rogers, vice president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, and a director of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, which Attorney General Hadley is trying to oust from the state of Missouri, was on the witness stand today on quo warranto proceedings brought by Mr. Hadley.

Mr. Hadley took up with him only two points, whether the Standard Oil company of Indiana has an office in the building at 26 Broadway, this city, where the Standard Oil company of New Jersey has its offices, and whether the Standard Oil company of New Jersey owns or controls a majority of the stock of the Indiana company, the Waters-Pierce Oil company of Missouri and the Republic Oil company of New York.

Mr. Rogers said that he did not know that the Indiana company had an office at 26 Broadway, that he supposed its affairs are conducted in Indiana and that he guessed that J. A. Moffett, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, has an office at 26 Broadway, but that he (Rogers) was never there. Mr. Rogers declined to answer the question whether the Standard Oil company of New Jersey owns the stocks of the companies which Mr. Hadley alleges have combined to stifle opposition in Missouri.

Mr. Hadley pressed the question with much insistence and demanded an answer without evasion.

Mr. Rogers will be recalled tomorrow.

After the adjournment Attorney General Hadley's attention was called to some published advice to him concerning the proceedings from Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, and he was asked:

"Do you want Mr. Lawson to come down here and testify in this case?"

"Certainly. If Mr. Lawson knows anything I should like to have him come down," said Mr. Hadley.

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—"When I am invited to go to New York to testify in the Standard Oil hearing I shall accept," said Thomas W. Lawson tonight when the remark made by Attorney General Hadley was mentioned to him. "I have not been advised in the matter yet, but if the attorney general desires me to testify I shall be pleased to go. I feel like helping him in every way I can."

BILL IS OPPOSED

Statehood Measure to Meet With Considerable Opposition---Fate in Doubt.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Republicans in the house who oppose the proposed joint statehood bill have developed such strength that the date of the favorable report of the committee on territories on the measure is uncertain and many members do not expect to have the bill brought before the house early this week, as was originally planned.

Insurgent Republicans allege they have 75 Republican votes against the proposed rule preventing the amendment of the joint statehood measure. As the Democrats will vote solidly against such a rule, it has been reported that the rules committee will not attempt to prevent the amendment of the bill. The friends of joint statehood do not admit that 75 Republicans will join in the attempt to amend the bill and insist that the committee on rules will have no hesitation in submitting a rule preventing amendments.

Speaker Cannon and his associates, representing the administration policy, are exerting every effort to enforce party discipline. The indorsement of joint statehood by the Republican caucus and the position of the president in favor of the proposition as it will be [illegible] have been urged as imperative reasons for presenting a solid party front on the question.

An effort undoubtedly is being put forth to unite the opposition on both the statehood and Philippine measures. This effort has succeeded to a limited extent.

C. O. PETERS MAY NOT BE HANGED

FATHER PLEADS WITH SPEER AND LINDSEY AT CLEVELAND—LATTER GIVES ADVICE.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8.—With tears streaming down his face and his voice broken with emotion, Henry F. Peters of West Dover, Ohio, appealed to the mayor of Denver, Robert W. Speer, and the city attorney, H. A. Lindsey, in the office of the director of charities in the city hall today, to procure a pardon for his son, Charles O. Peters, who, with two other men, was sentenced to be hanged for murder committed two years ago. The two companions of Peters paid the penalty of their crime upon the gallows, but Peters' mind gave way and he became a maniac. He is now confined in the Colorado state penitentiary, the physicians declaring that he is hopelessly insane. Lindsey advised the father to make an appeal for the commutation of the death penalty and promised to sign the petition as the one who secured the conviction. This will mean the detention of the convict for life. The father agreed to have the necessary papers drawn up.

CAUCASUS SITUATION IS GROWING SERIOUS

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 8.—A semi-official communication on the situation in the Caucasus, published this morning, said that what happened years ago in Asiatic Turkey under the name of Armenian massacres is being repeated in the Caucasus. It says that the Armenians who were given refuge there by Russia are introducing their revolutionary methods, fomenting disorders and arousing the Mohammedans against themselves as they did in Asiatic Turkey. This, the communication says, is the real origin of the massacres which have recently taken place in several localities of the Caucasus.

The government, it is announced, has adopted energetic measures to combat the movement. It is added that Count Von Vorontzeff Dashkoff, viceroy of the Caucasus, who is ill, will be superseded.

PATIENCE IS EXHAUSTED

FRANCE WILL NO LONGER TAKE CASTRO'S INSULTS. DECISIVE ACTION IS EXPECTED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Diplomatic circles here [illegible] France's patience with Castro's failure to respond to the French charges of [illegible] has been exhausted. At the request of the French government, Mr. Russell, the American minister at Caracas, will cease to transact diplomatic business, and what may prove to be final representations. The French government's position is that it has exhibited sufficient patience in its attitude toward President Castro and that the time is near at hand when action must be substituted unless President Castro changes his attitude. Meanwhile the French fleet is in the West Indies awaiting the turn of events. A conference between Minister Bowen and M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, is scheduled for this week, by which time the home is expressed here that the answer of President Castro will have been received and France will be enabled to shape her course accordingly.

CARNEGIE AND ROCKEFELLER

HAVE LARGEST AMOUNT OF PERSONAL PROPERTY IN NEW YORK—RUSSELL SAGE THIRD.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The tremendous increase of $840,000,000 in the value of New York real estate during the past year was shown by the assessments of the tax commissioners, issued today. The total value of real estate is fixed at $5,400,000,000. Personal property is assessed at more than $3,000,000,000.

Several interesting assessments on personal property were revealed by an examination of the tax assessor's lists. Andrew Carnegie was assessed on the largest amount of personal property, the valuation being $5,000,000. John D. Rockefeller's name stands as the second largest assessment, which was on $2,500,000. Russell Sage's personal property was third in point of size, on an assessment of $2,000,000. Goldie Mohr Wood, the former chorus girl and widow of Alan Wood, the Pittsburg millionaire, is assessed on $500,000 worth of personal property. Helen Gould is assessed on $25,000 personal property.

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT INTERVENES FOR SUBJECT.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 8.—The Italian government is attempting to secure mercy for Mrs. Antoinette Tolla, the young Italian woman under sentence to be hanged next Friday for murder. The Italian vice consul at Newark had a conference yesterday with Mrs. Tolla's counsel, who will appear on Wednesday before the state board of pardons in the woman's behalf.

Mrs. Tolla shot a young Italian who, she said, attempted to make love to her in her own house.

PRINTERS ACCEPT NINE HOURS AND EXTRA PAY?

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—With the ratification today by one of the largest printing establishments of the compromise agreement with the Typographical union, the strike of the job printers practically ended and both sides are claiming a victory. The printers had been holding out for an eight-hour day, there being no controversy over the wage scale, the differences between the employers and printers being confined solely to a question of hours. The compromise provides for a nine-hour work day, the first eight hours to be paid on the scale originally submitted by the printers, and the ninth hour at a slightly increased rate. All over-time is to be paid at the rate of fifty cents an hour.

President W. J. Snider, of Colorado Springs Typographical union No. 82, when his attention was called to the above press dispatch early this morning, said:

"The story would leave the impression that the settlement in St. Louis had been made on the basis of a nine-hour workday. Such an adjustment would be impossible, as, since Jan. 1, the eight-hour day only is recognized by the International Typographical union, of which St. Louis is a subordinate body. No contracts can be entered into by any local without the sanction of the parent body. There is absolutely no doubt that the settlement was made on the basis of the eight-hour workday, and provision has been made for the overtime that will necessary have to be worked by the St. Louis job printers in order to help the offices out with work long delayed on account of their backwardness in giving heretofore to the shorter hour.

"Thousands of contracts have been signed during the last week by proprietors with local unions, and all are absolutely on the eight-hour basis. None other would have been considered by the I. T. U."

SANTA FE BUYS D. E. & G. ROAD

WICHITA, Kas., Jan. 8.—The Santa Fe Railroad company has purchased all the stock of the Denver, Enid and Gulf road, and at a meeting held today in St. Louis, James N. Young was chosen president of the latter company. He will have his headquarters at Enid, Okla. The other officers of the company will remain unchanged. This means that the Santa Fe is now the owner of the track of the Denver, Enid and Gulf, now completed between Enid and Kiowa. What will be done about the further extension of the line to the northwest is unsettled, but will be determined by Vice President Peckham on his return to Enid from St. Louis, where the deal was consummated. The original plan of the projectors was to run a line from Denver to the Gulf of Mexico.

ORCHARD IS IDENTIFIED

IS WANTED FOR BLOWING UP INDEPENDENCE DEPOT, IN WHICH FOURTEEN MEN WERE KILLED.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 8.—Sheriff Bell of Teller county, Colorado, stated this evening to the correspondent of the Associated Press that he recognized Harry Orchard, the man suspected of the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg, as the same man who is wanted in Colorado for the blowing up of the Independence depot at Cripple Creek. The officer with him likewise recognized the prisoner absolutely. Sheriff Bell said further that if he had come here with a requisition for Orchard, he had found, after looking over the case of the state against the Steunenberg murderer, that it was not likely Colorado would get hold of him at this time. He feels certain he will be held and is prepared to go back home, but will remain until after the preliminary examination. Orchard would not admit that he recognized the sheriff or the other officer with him.

BRECKENRIDGE PASSES AWAY

SON OF THE LATE FORMER VICE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES DIES AT HOME OF SON-IN-LAW.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Henry Clay Breckenridge, son of the late John C. Breckenridge, who was vice president of the United States in the administration of James Buchanan, died today at the home of his son-in-law, John Tod, in Yonkers, N. Y., aged 61 years.

He was promoted for gallantry on the field until he became a brevet major. After the fall of Richmond Major Breckenridge went to Arkansas and later to St. Louis, where he engaged in business. He was appointed surveyor general of the territories of Washington by President Cleveland in 1885, serving through Mr. Cleveland's term.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS

STATE SUPREME COURT DISPOSES OF MANY CASES. MINING DISPUTES SETTLED.

DENVER, Jan. 8.—At the opening of the January term of the supreme court today Chief Justice Gabbert announced a number of important decisions, some of them in cases which came from the old court of appeals. In the case of Frank P. Tanner against the Treasury Tunnel Mining and Reduction company, it was decided that parties working a mining claim have tunnel under property belonging to another if they so desire, but that the parties so tunneling must pay for the value of the ore taken out. The court says:

"The number who may avail themselves of the benefits of the tunnel will be limited, but this is merely the result of natural conditions arising from the character and location of mining properties. This question has never been before passed upon in this state."

In the case of Alex D. Davidson against William Fraser, the court held that where one party secured a patent on a mining claim and the name of this partner was left off, that partner had a right to action to correct the error or fraud.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey of the Denver county court can call in other judges to help him when his docket is crowded according to a decision on the appeal of the Prudential Insurance company of America from a judgment obtained by Carrie Hummer. The insurance company claimed Judge Lindsey decided furthermore in this that an insurance company must be bound by the medical examination of its own officers.

The court holds the district irrigation law of 1901 valid. This decision was rendered in the case of Anderson vs. the Grand Valley irrigation district.

ACCOUNT OF BATTLE AT PUERTA PLATA

TURKS ISLAND, Bahamas, Jan. 8.—Advices brought here yesterday by the steamer Cherokee from Puerta Plata, San Domingo, dated January 6, say the recent fighting near that port was very sharp, 150 of the 800 men engaged on both sides being killed or wounded. Dead bodies were lying in the streets of Puerta Plata for two days. An attack on Puerta Plata by the insurgent general, Pedro Alvarez, was momentarily expected when the steamer left there and it was believed that it would result in the authorities surrendering. Generals Guellito and Navarro, insurgents, were defeated January 5 in their attack on Santiago, which was defended by Caceres troops.

PANAMA CURRENCY INVESTIGATION WANTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—An inquiry by the finance committee of the senate into certain monetary and exchange agreements made a year ago by Secretary Taft with the government of Panama and certain banks on the isthmus of Panama, was asked for today by Senator Bailey. It developed recently that this government undertakes to maintain the standard of the Panama currency, which situation was attacked by certain Democratic senators that this amounted to legislation and that the secretary of war and canal officials had exceeded their authority. On objection of Senator Kittredge, the resolution went over until tomorrow.

CHICAGO MURDERER IS STILL AT LARGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The police have not yet arrested Frank J. Constantino for the murder of Mrs. A. W. Gentry last Saturday. The cabman who drove him around the city after the crime was taken into custody today, but was unable to give information of any value. VICTORY FOR CITY IN LIQUOR CASES

Korsmeyer Drug Company and Druggist J. H. Harrison Agree to Pay Penalty and All Costs---Action of Colorado Springs Company Is Problematical.

[illegible] were [illegible] the fight against the [illegible] will be dismissed.

[illegible] understood that the action brought by Moore & Hass to oust the Korsmeyer Drug company of the store room now occupied by [illegible] and James H. Harrison through illegal selling of liquor, and as to which cases is set for trial today before Justice W. N. Ruby, will be dismissed by motion of Attorney Walter Scott, counsel for the plaintiffs. A [illegible] has been granted with very stringent provisions regarding the sale of intoxicating liquors. This information was acknowledged to be true by counsel for the plaintiff last evening.

What effect the settlement of the cases against Harrison will have upon the action brought by the Colorado Springs company for possession of the property under the terms of the liquor lease contained in the deed can only be surmised. It is possible that the settlement of the suits above referred to, together with the fact that Druggist Harrison has agreed to more stringent regulations as to the sale of liquor, may result in the dismissal of the action brought by the Colorado Springs company. No less steps in this direction have been taken, and the suit against the owners of the Harrison property, as well as those against the owners of the Fehringer and Zobrist properties, are still pending in the district court.

COURT GAVE TWO BIG JUDGMENTS

SAMUEL CLARK GETS $5,048 AND C. H. SWINT $10,221 FOR INJURIES RECEIVED IN MINE.

Special to The Gazette.

Burnside because no negligence had been proved. The Trading company and Burnside had been made parties to the defense. Clark lost an arm and Swint had his head injured while raising machinery from the Wrockloff block of the Acacia company 14 months ago, they being in the employ of the Trading company. Burnside and Wyatt were lessees.

TIME GIVEN TO DEBATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—With four hours devoted to the District of Columbia, there was but a half hour left to be devoted by the house to tariff discussion. This was utilized by Mr. Sullivan of Massachusetts, who spoke strongly for tariff revision from the Democratic standpoint.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The senate gave attention today to the Panama canal, the situation in Santo Domingo and the merchant marine shipping bill. The canal question came up in connection with a message from the president in which, among others, he invited the closest scrutiny into all that had been done by the government in the isthmus of Panama. Mr. Gorman made that utterance the text for a speech in which he criticised the salaries paid for work in connection with the canal and urged congressional inquiry. He said that the president was not so much to blame as congress, for his assumption of control on the isthmus, and that the chief mistakes had been made when congress relinquished its hold upon canal affairs. Mr. Hale agreed with Mr. Gorman in urging the assertion of the rights of congress in connection with the canal and said that while congress had delegated the matter to the president, the latter practically had referred the whole matter back to congress.

The Dominican discussion arose on Mr. Tillman's resolution making inquiry of the president concerning the status of affairs in the island republic. The resolution was made the basis for a speech by Mr. Rayner, which was his initial effort in the senate. He made an argument for non-interference by the United States in the affairs of other countries in the western hemisphere except in cases involving efforts to appropriate territory, and closed with a plea for encouragement to the Russian Jews in their struggle for their rights in Russia. He had the closest attention from the floor and galleries, and when he closed was warmly congratulated by many senators of both parties, his colleague, Mr. Gorman, being the first to offer his congratulations.

Mr. Gallinger opened the debate on the merchant marine shipping bill, presenting an extensive array of figures in support of that measure.

DR. MORRIS TALKS OF WIFE'S WHITE HOUSE EXPERIENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Dr. Minor Morris, whose wife was ejected from the White house last Thursday night, tonight gave out a statement in which he severely arraigns those responsible for her removal, denounces the indignities of a fine in her case as adding humiliation and replies to the statement of her brother, Congressman Hull of Iowa, regarding the will and conduct of her father. The statement is addressed to "Whom it May Concern" and begins as follows:

"A woman of the highest intellectual attainments, who has devoted her life to her home, her family and her ideals, whose only thought has been to do good, and who has always considered others before herself, a wife and mother, has been seized from behind in the waiting room of the White house, and maltreated with a brutality which humanity would revolt at selling accorded to its lowest type. The details of the [illegible] are now known to the whole country."

Dr. Morris alleges that an effort was made to hold Mrs. Morris at the house of detention until his arrival the day later. He says the punishment [illegible] for manifestation [illegible] and that [illegible] to press the issue [illegible] today recorded as the [illegible] to the [illegible] of her friends.

Dr. Morris says her suffering will have been in vain if the larger principles of truth and justice are strengthened in the country. He says she did not see or be seen by anyone during her seizure by secret service men, surprised they will [illegible] come on.

In conclusion Dr. Morris [illegible] the [illegible] sense of [illegible] has been shocked [illegible] all this and that the [illegible] thought is that this outrage is the gravest insult to the politeness of American life within the memory of [illegible]

OHIO INAUGURATES HIS NEW GOVERNOR

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 8.—As curious a spectacle as ever graced a similar occasion was seen here today when John M. Pattison, having taken the oath as governor, reviewed a parade of 4,000 troops from a glass cage.

Mr. Pattison, who has been ill for some time, stood in the open long enough to take the oath, although the weather had all the vigor of mid-winter and then stepped into the cage of glass which had been constructed in the reviewing stand. Standing on foot-warmers while the long parade shivered past, the new governor bowed his acknowledgements. Considerable interest attached to Governor Pattison's reference to insurance in his message, as he is himself president of a life insurance company.

In his inaugural address Governor Pattison said:

"At the last election, the people did not think that partisan politics were involved in the issues. I trust, therefore, that you will pass no legislation for partisan purposes. As the temperance question was one of the issues in the last election, I recommend that the original Brannock bill, as passed by the house and amended by the senate, or one similar in purpose, be enacted. The Brannock measure as thus presented represented the views of the great majority of the people who were in favor of excluding saloons from residential districts.

"The Dow tax laws and other similar laws were enacted at the request of the saloon and liquor interests in an attempt to make the business of the former respectable. I therefore recommend for your consideration, the advisability of enacting laws more in harmony with those of other states, and more in accord with the best interests of the people and the welfare of the state. It is my opinion that it would be fair to give the people of the state the same right by counties as they now have by townships, villages and cities. I believe this would greatly benefit the people and would result in good to the cause of temperance.

"While the disobeying of any law is demoralizing and degrading to a citizen or community, the disobeying of the Sunday laws is doubly so. Hence the so-called Sunday laws should be obeyed and enforced, not only in the country and villages, but in the large towns and cities as well.

"I desire to call your attention to the interest that is being taken in the subject of home rule for cities, particularly as to the right of each city, town or village at large to decide for itself all questions of local policy, especially public or private ownership of all public utilities, including street railways, water works and lighting systems. If it is according to your judgment that provision should be made for submitting such matters to the people, then upon request from such portion of the citizens and voters of such city as you may think advisable, a vote shall be taken and the majority shall decide the question. If such authority should be given, it certainly should be guarded by the merit system of appointment and tenure of office.

"President Roosevelt's efforts for national supervision of insurance should have your approval, such national supervision as will surround the policyholders with additional safeguards and lessen the cost of his insurance, being desirable."

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS DR. J. M'IVOR-TYNDALL

The intense interest that is being manifested throughout the entire country just now in metaphysical and psychological subjects was well attested last night by the size and character of the audience that assembled to greet Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall, the world-famed exponent of matters psychological and metaphysical at Majestic hall.

Those who remember Dr. McIvor-Tyndall from his last visit here, some ten years ago, were hardly prepared for the extremely youthful-appearing man who stepped on the platform amid a storm of applause. Dr. McIvor-Tyndall has apparently found the secret of perpetual youth, and if the philosophy of life which he expounds so convincingly and entertainingly is responsible for the buoyancy and vigor of his appearance, he can count on an immense following in his purpose of "rejuvenating the world." The famous psychist chose for his theme the word "Ghosts," and he said he had been lead to select this subject from the fact of the great lesson taught by Ibsen, the dramatist, in his remarkable psychological play of that name.

Stough and Dr. P. O. Hanford. The subject should be of much interest and value to engineers and others having charge of men, whether in field, mill or other work.

GERMANY ISSUES A MOROCCAN PAMPHLET

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—The foreign office pamphlet on Morocco, consisting of forty-two pages with extracts from twenty-seven documents, appeared today, and furnished good reading for those who have followed this long controversy. The publication, however, contains but few interesting features.

It begins with a symposium of the newspaper cuttings expressing the aspiration of the French to attain exclusive jurisdiction in Morocco and representing that the French minister at Fez had assumed the mandate of Europe to urge the execution of reforms in Morocco.

The sultan of Morocco, December 21, received in audience Herr Vassel, the German consul at Fez, and talked over the situation. "I am willing," said the sultan, "to treat three or four powers equally with Germany and Great Britain, on account of their trade, and France and Spain because they are neighboring harbors." The sultan inquired whether the French minister could claim a general mandate or not, and the consul replied that Germany had not granted such a mandate.

The sultan said he was pleased to receive this information. A dispatch dated April 1, on the sultan's state of mind after the speech of M. Delcasse, the former foreign minister of France, in the French senate March 31, said Muley Abdul Aziz was excited by M. Delcasse's declaration that the Moroccan government had asked France's advice and would follow it.

During the audience, the sultan cried: "But there are absolute verbs."

CONCISE.

The queen of England is very deaf and very sensitive about it. When she was princess of Wales and acting for the queen, an American senator—every one knows him, but not this of him—was presented at court. He was told that the princess would be pleased, and that he must remember that she was both deaf and sensitive; that he must not raise his voice in speaking to her, but must make his replies brief and as plain as possible, and let it go at that.

The princess asked him if he had a pleasant voyage, to which he solemnly nodded. She then asked how long he was on the water. Bracing himself for the ordeal the senator held up seven fingers, then two fingers, and in a tragic whisper replied:

"Seven days! Two hours!" Harper's Weekly.

WHITE SALE AT GIDDINGS BROS.

No signs of dullness at the Giddings store these days. One would think by the army of buyers who attended the sale yesterday that it was Christmas time again. During the entire day the White Goods and Linen Aisle and the Undermuslin Section was crowded with buyers. It became necessary to reinforce the department with extra salespeople to look after their customers.

White Goods are in evidence everywhere, in show windows, cases, on ledges and everywhere throughout the store. Things are so dainty and pretty you just can't resist buying. Better come down town today and see what's doing.

ITCHING PAINFUL SORES ON HANDS

Suffered for a Long Time Without Relief—Had Three Doctors and Derived No Benefit—One Doctor Was Afraid to Touch Them—Soreness Disappeared and Hands Now Smooth After Application of

CUTICURA SOAP AND CUTICURA OINTMENT

"For a long time I suffered with sores on the hands which were itching, painful, and disagreeable. I had three doctors and derived no benefit from any of them. One doctor said he was afraid to touch my hands, so you must know how bad they were; another said I never could be cured; and the third said the sores were caused by the dipping of my hands in water in the dye-house where I work. I saw in the papers about the wonderful cures of the Cuticura Remedies and procured some of the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. In three days after the application of the Cuticura Ointment my hands began to peel and were better. The sores soon disappeared, and they are now smooth and clean, and I am still working in the dye-house.

"I strongly recommend Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment to any one with sore hands, and I hope that this letter will be the means of helping other sufferers. Very truly yours, Miss A. F. Manns, 2340 State St., Chicago, Ill., July 1, 1905."

AMUSEMENTS

ROSE CECILIA SHAY IN "PAUL JONES"

"Paul Jones," the comic opera in which Rose Cecelia Shay will be seen at the Opera house this evening, was written by H. B. Farnie, who has given the stage many of its greatest successes. The music is by Planquette, whose "Chimes of Normandie" will live as long as music lasts, and that will doubtless be until the world ends. "Paul Jones" purports to be a part of the early love affair of the greatest naval hero of that name. The title role is, of course, played by Miss Shay, who appears first as the great commander when he is identified with a smuggler's crew at St. Malo, France. Jones falls in love with the ward of a wealthy merchant of that port, but the merchant has already betrothed her to a Spanish army officer. The lady herself is deeply in love with Paul, and promises to await his return when he sets sail for America after being banished from St. Malo. After three years' absence he returns the day the merchant has decided to compel Yrone to marry the Spaniard. The wedding is prevented, but Jones, who is now a captain of the American navy, is kidnaped by the Spaniard's retinue and is taken to the Mosquito islands, where he is to be banished. The officers and men of the American vessel follow and finally rescue the prisoner, who succeeds in marrying Yrone.

Miss Shay is supported by Joseph Fredericks, Daniel Young, Patrick Wallace, Charles Fowler, Ralph Allard, Jack Martin, Will T. Rennie, Cuelma Baker, Marion Langdon and Charlotte Stoll and a chorus of forty which makes a singing organization of unusual merit. The costumes, stage effects and scenery are from the studios of New York's cleverest producers.

COMING TO THE ANTLERS.

A charming comedy-drama, carload of special scenery and mechanical effects, a big band, grand operatic orchestra and many new and novel specialties, a strong company of acting people with the "Uncle Josh Spruceby" company will, no doubt, draw large crowds during the engagement at the Opera house next Saturday afternoon and evening. In these days when the public is flooded with "farce comedies" with no plot, it is a relief to witness a play of this character. Its pure homely humor and rustic pastoral scenes give the theater-goer a rest from the "fast and furious" kind of show, and for those that like sensation the play has realistic scenes and startling climaxes that will surely give the necessary "shivers."

THE MERCHANT OF VENICE

The Hanford production of "The Merchant of Venice" at the Opera house on Monday, January 15, promises to be an event of rare interest. The production is one of the most beautiful that this player and producer has ever assembled. Portia will be played by Miss Marie Drofnah, whose success in delineating the highest feminine types of the legitimate drama has awakened a popular interest second only to that felt in the star himself. Mr. Frank Henry for many years one of the most highly esteemed of the many prominent players who have appeared with Mr. Hanford, will have an important role in the play.

LARGE FOREIGN COMMERCE.

SOME figures contained in a recent report of the Department of Commerce and Labor again call attention to the fact that the United States is becoming more and more a manufacturing nation. A few years ago our exports to foreign countries consisted almost entirely of grain, live stock and other agricultural products, but the American manufacturer is now turning these things into finished goods before sending them abroad, thus earning an increased profit for American labor instead of giving it to the manufacturers of Europe. This is increasingly apparent in statistics which show the relative amount of raw and manufactured products shipped abroad. In a total commerce amounting to $2,580,000,000 during the eleven months ended November 30, 1905, our manufacturers participated to the extent of $1,000,000,000. Both in the value of manufacturers' materials imported and manufactures exported these eleven months exceed any other similar period in our history.

The prosperous condition of American foreign commerce may be realized when it is stated that during the first ten months of last year our exports to Europe increased nearly $29,000,000 over the same period of 1904; to other North American nations, $23,000,000; to Asia, $52,000,000, and to South America, $9,500,000. The most surprising gain was made in shipments to China, which in the ten months referred to aggregated about $50,000,000 in value, as compared with $29,000,000 in the corresponding period in 1904. Similarly, our exports to Japan amounted to $46,500,000 as against about $22,000,000 for the same period of the previous year. It does not appear from these figures that the Chinese boycott had begun to produce serious effects in the period noted.

The nation is just now at the high tide of prosperity, and whatever internal conditions may be in the future there is no indication that our foreign commerce will show any falling off. This large volume of trade has been secured principally because American merchants sell the best goods at the lowest prices, but especially in South America serious difficulties have been encountered because of the apparent unwillingness of our exporters to conform to the wishes of their customers in regard to several minor matters, such as the methods of packing goods. More careful attention to these details will unquestionably result in greatly extending the American markets, particularly in South America.

GRAFT AND SOCIAL OSTRACISM.

IN AN address in Denver last week, President Hadley of Yale again reiterated his opinion that social ostracism will be found the best cure for graft, especially the big graft that takes the form of insurance steals. He admitted that more or less corruption will probably always exist, but investigations recently ended in New York are a proof that conditions are constantly improving, and that by social ostracism of the men found guilty of grafting, they could be held in check as much as by criminal prosecution.

Surveying what may be termed the results already obtained by this method, it would seem to be very successful. The pressure of public opinion, which in this case is a means of social ostracism, has forced Alexander, Hyde, McCurdy and McCall to resign the high positions which they had held for years in the "big three" life insurance companies. To use a colloquial expression, these men are down and out. In the public minds their names have become synonyms for graft and corruption, and the people would never again place the slightest degree of confidence in any fiduciary concern with which they might be connected. Their careers are at an end, and with the exception of Hyde, the remainder of their days will be spent in obscurity.

The eccentric youngster who stirred up all the trouble with his famous French dinner has gone to Paris, and it is reported is preparing to dazzle the blase Parisians with a series of entertainments this winter, probably with the purpose of gaining a new kind of reputation for himself. It makes little difference what becomes of Hyde, for he was never of much importance except as a possessor by inheritance of a majority of the Equitable stock. He has not the ability to win a place for himself as a commanding figure in the world of finance, so the remainder of his career is likely to be spent in getting rid of the fortune his father left him.

The downfall of Depew is even more noteworthy than that of the three insurance presidents, because his position was more exalted and he has been for years more conspicuously in the limelight. He is fighting hard to prevent the adoption by the New York legislature of a resolution demanding his resignation from the Senate, but whether or not he is successful in this, his career also is at an end. "Judge" Hamilton, the legislative agent of the insurance grafters, is in France, virtually a fugitive from justice, for he dare not return to this country until the storm blows over. Depew's "cantankerous friend" has just entered a sanitorium in the hope of recovering his shattered health. McCurdy likewise is said to be an invalid, due to the strain of the last six months, and Alexander has only recently passed through a siege of illness so severe that at one time his life was despaired of. Clearly some dread Nemesis is on the track of the insurance grafters and if not social ostracism, what is it?

Recently the case of William E. Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, has been attracting widespread attention. Corey is, or was, one of Mr. Carnegie's proteges. He attracted the attention of the ironmaster, when, as a young man in the early twenties, he was working in the Homestead plant as a common day laborer. Carnegie put him in the line of promotion and steadily advanced him from the post of responsibility to another, until now, at the age of thirty-eight, he is the head of the great Steel Trust with a salary said to be $150,000 a year.

But Corey, like his predecessor, Schwab, has shown himself to be unable to stand prosperity. His infatuation for an actress has led him to desert the wife whose love and fidelity have been largely instrumental in his success. If reports from Pittsburg are to be credited, Mrs. Corey worked with him and for him in the days of obscurity more faithfully even than he worked for the Carnegie Steel Company. She did the cooking and the washing and ironing, she mended his clothes and cared for his children. In those days no idea of discontent entered his mind, but now that he is a millionaire he sees the world from a different viewpoint and the faithful wife of his earlier days is entirely too plain and commonplace.

In all of the comment made throughout the country on this case there has been only one side, that of severest censure for Corey and sympathy for his unfortunate wife. It is evident that there is only one way to properly punish such a man, and that is by social ostracism. If Corey is ignored by his former associates, regarded everywhere as the contemptible cad he has shown himself to be, his punishment will fit his offense. His mere removal from the presidency of the Steel Trust would not be sufficient, as he would regard it as of far less consequence than the loss of the esteem of his fellowmen. Yet it appears that so far as his immediate friends are concerned, there is to be no expression of disapproval of his conduct, for it was reported that a few nights ago he was the guest of honor at a magnificent banquet given in Pittsburg. But however his associates may regard the case, it is perfectly plain that public opinion throughout the country will continue to condemn him severely, even though his friends show renewed evidence of their confidence.

The public is coming more and more to view men of the Corey type, as well as financial grafters like McCall, in their true aspect. The glamour of mere riches no longer dazzles the great mass of the people, who still believe that stealing is stealing, no matter what mild term may be used to conceal its real character, and that a thief is a thief and should be treated as such whether he is a tramp or a Napoleon of finance. A public man who has once held the confidence and esteem of the entire country could receive no severer punishment than to be treated as an outcast, and President Hadley was right when he said that social ostracism will be found an effective remedy for the evils which are now attracting universal attention.

Russian revolutionists are getting ready to celebrate the anniversary of "Red Sunday," January 22, with a glorious riot. One year from now the survivors will be getting ready to celebrate the anniversary of the enacement of the present celebrators.

Says the Rev. Newell D. Hillis: "The basis of every successful man's career is self-help." Yes, but it is sometimes difficult to find out just how much some of our successful captains of industry help themselves to.

Mr. Wash-ke-Wash, an Indian, is a candidate for postmaster somewhere out West. The President ought to investigate his record carefully. No real Indian ever acquired such a name honestly.

Mr. McCall admits that he made a few "errors" in his management of the New York Life. Mr. McCall probably realizes that if he isn't considerate of himself nobody else will be.

Chicago is to have the biggest hotel in the world, not necessarily because Chicago needs it, but because mere bigness impresses Chicagoans more than anything else.

The Michigan man who put ten sticks of dynamite under the stove to thaw them out succeeded. However, there is a vacant lot where the house once stood.

It is worthy of note that the foreign correspondents didn't think about scaring up a war between France and Germany until news from Russia got scarce.

Mr. Carnegie declares that the new year has brought universal peace and honesty. Nothing like being able to believe the things one wants to believe.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

Thursday, 9th January, 1806.—Marched the corporal early in order that our men might receive assurances of our safety and success. He carried with him a small keg of spirits a present from Mr. Grant. The establishment at this place was formed twelve years since by the North-West Company and was formerly under the charge of a Mr. Charles Chaboillez. It has obtained at present such importance as to permit the superintendent to live tolerably comfortable. They have horses, which they procured from the Sioux, at the Indians, raise plenty of Irish potatoes, catch pike, suckers, pickerel, and white fish in abundance. They have also beaver, deer and moose, but the provision they chiefly depend upon is wild oats, of which they purchase great quantities from the savages, giving at the rate of about one dollar and a half per bushel; but flour, pork and salt, are almost interdicted to persons not principals in the trade. Flour sells at half a dollar, salt a dollar; pork eights cents, sugar half a dollar, coffee eight, four and a half and twelve per pound. The sugar is obtained from the Indians, and is made from the maple tree.

From Red Cedar lake to Lake de Table, on the eastern shore, you meet with Muddy river, which discharges itself into the Mississippi by a mouth of twenty yards wide, and bears nearly N.E. We then met with Pike river on the west, about seven miles below Sandy lake, and bears nearly north, up which you ascend with canoes four days' sail, and arrive at a wild rice lake, which you pass through, and enter a small stream and ascend it two leagues, then cross a portage of two acres into a lake of seven leagues in circumference, then two leagues of a river into another small lake. From thence you descend the current north-east into Leech lake. The banks of the Mississippi are still bordered by pines of the different species, and the Aborigines subsist almost entirely on the beaver, with a few moose, and the wild rice for oats.

Sandy lake (or the discharge of the said lake) is large, but is only six miles in length from the lake to its confluence with the Mississippi. The lake is about twenty-five miles in circumference, and has a number of small rivers running into it, one of those entitled to particular attention, viz. the River Savannah, which, by a portage of three miles and three-quarters, communicates with the River St. Louis, which empties into Lake Superior at the Fond du Lac, and is the channel by which the North-West Company bring all their goods for the trade of the upper Mississippi. Game is very scarce in this country.

UNJUST REPRESENTATION.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

—Shakespeare, Henry VI.

Five hundred fifty-seven thousand eight hundred seven white citizens of South Carolina elect seven members of congress; 529,016 white citizens of Colorado elect three members.

In Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia and the two Carolinas, each 103,127 white citizens, have a representative in congress; in the six New England states each 190,587 white citizens have a representative.

In Mississippi each 80,000 white citizens have a representative in congress; in Colorado each 170,000 white citizens have a representative.

In Mississippi a white man has two and one-half votes for president of the United States, and for a representative in congress; in Colorado a white man has one vote for each of the same officials.

In other words a white man in Mississippi and in some other southern states has two and one-half times the political power that a white man in Colorado has.

If by this wholly unjust and unconstitutional preponderance of political power a president of the United States should be elected by southern votes, would the partially disfranchised northern white voters submit? His present obsequious attitude in the face of political outrage and injustice argues that he would now, as for a long time in the past, tamely allow the southern heel to be placed upon his neck.

Are all northern white voters cowards and dough faces? Are we not paying an enormous price for sectional peace? How trifling are such merely material questions as tariffs, trusts, railroad rates and even insurance frauds that now agitate the public mind, in comparison with the flagrant violations of the great principles of political equality that underlie our government indicated above.

ONE OF THE POLTROONS.

Colorado Springs, January 8.

WHY PROTESTANT?

To the Editor of The Gazette.

In common I believe with a large number of people in this town, I have been interested in your reports of the proposed new hospital for Colorado Springs.

The name, however, by which it has been called—whether officially or not I do not know—seems to me unfortunate. It is rather generally spoken of as the new protestant hospital.

But why protestant? That title seems neither necessary nor appropriate. Unfortunately it suggests a spirit of rivalry, if not antagonism toward that church whose noble representatives have, up to the present, done the larger part of this sort of work among us. If now our protestant churches wish to have some more direct share in this work for the sick, surely it is not necessary to employ any word that might possibly suggest unfriendliness toward those on whose unselfish labors we have been so long dependent. I am not among the number of those in my own church to whose ears the name protestant has an unpleasant sound; on the contrary, I revere it and the history associated with it; nevertheless, it does not seem necessary or appropriate in connection with our new enterprise. This hospital should represent the very highest Christian spirit of love toward mankind and the very fitest and wisest medical knowledge. If it does this it will obtain the support of all classes of people in this town. Anything beyond this seems unnecessary; certainly anything that smacks of that most unhappy part of Christianity—ecclesiastical rivalries.

As for the actual name, that will, of course, be a matter of personal taste. "The Colorado Springs Hospital" seems obvious, although not particularly original. Names like "The Good Samaritan Hospital" or similar ones are more picturesque. The "Memorial Hospital" might be used if people cared to make their contributions in memory of their friends. Perhaps the name of some well known benefactor might be selected by general consent. These, however, are mere suggestions.

Delights of Farming

(By Horace Greeley.)

AN American boy, who has received a fair common school education and has an active inquiring mind, does not willingly consent merely to drive oxen and hold the plow forever. He will do them with alacrity, if they come in his way; he will not accept them as the be-all and the end-all of his career. He will not sit down in a rude, slovenly, naked home, devoid of flowers and trees and books and periodicals and intelligent, inspiring, refining conversation, and there plod through a life of drudgery as hopeless and cheerless as any mule's. He has needs and hopes and inspirations, which this life does not, and should not satisfy. This might have served his progenitor in the ninth century; but this is the nineteenth, and Young America knows it.

He needs to feel the intellectual life of the period flowing freely into and through him—needs to feel that, though the city and the railroad are out of sight, the latter is daily bringing within his reach all that is noblest and best in the achievements and attractions of the former. He may not listen to our ablest orators in the senate or in the pulpit; but the press multiplies their best thoughts and most forcible expressions at the rate of ten to twenty thousand copies per hour; and its issues are within the reach of every industrious family.

To arrest the rush of our youth to the cities, we have only to diffuse what is best of the cities through the country; and this the latest triumphs of civilization enable us easily to do. A home irradiated by the best thoughts of the sages and heroes of all time, even though these be compressed within a few rusty volumes, cheered by the frequent arrival of two or three choice periodicals, and surrounded by such floral evidences of taste and refinement as are within the reach of the poorest owner of the soil he tills, will not be spurned as a prison by any youth not thoroughly corrupted and depraved.

Any American farmer, who has two hands and knows how to use them, may, at 50 years of age, have a better library than King Solomon ever dreamed of, though he declared that "of making of many books there is no end," any intelligent farmer's son may have a better knowledge of Nature and her laws when 20 years old than Aristotle or Pliny ever attained. The steam engine, the electric telegraph and the power press have brought knowledge nearer to the humblest cabin than it was, ten centuries since, to the stateliest mansion; let the cabin be careful not to disparage or repel it.

But thousands of farmers are more intent on leaving money and lands to their children than on informing and enriching their minds. They starve their souls in order to pamper their bodies. They grudge their sons what would would make them truly wise, in order to provide them with what can at best make them rich in corn and cattle, while poor in manly purposes and generous ideas. Modern agriculture is an art—or rather a circle of arts—based upon natural science, which is a methodical exposition of divine law. The ravage is Nature's thrall whom she scorches, freezes, starves, drowns, as her caprice may dictate. He lives in constant dread of her frosts, her tornadoes, her lightnings. Science teaches his civilized successor to turn her wildest eccentricities to his own use and profit. Her floods and gales saw his timber and grind his grain; in time they will chop his trees, speed his plow, and till his crops as well.

Science transforms and exalts him from the slave into the master of the elements. If he does not yet harness the electric fluid to his plow, his boat, his wagon, and make it the most docile and useful of his servants, it is because he is still but little advanced from barbarism. Essentially, the lightning garnered in a summer cloud should be as much at his command, and as subservient to his needs as the water that refreshes his thirsty fields and starts his hitherto lifeless wheels.

Only good farming pays. He who sows or plants without reasonable assurance of good crops annually, might better earn wages of some capable neighbor than work for so poor a paymaster as he is certain to prove himself. The good farmer is proved such by the steady appreciation of his crops. As any one may reap an ample harvest from a fertile, virgin soil; the good farmer alone grows good crops at first, and better and better ever afterward.

It is far easier to maintain the productive capacity of a farm than to restore it. To exhaust its fecundity and then attempt its restoration by buying costly commercial fertilizers, is wasteful and irrational. The good farmer sells mainly such products as are least exhaustive. Necessity may constrain him, for the first year or two, to sell grain, or even hay; but he will soon send off his surplus mainly in the form of cotton, or wool, or meat, or butter and cheese, or something else that returns to the soil nearly all that is taken from it. A bank account daily drawn upon, where nothing is deposited to its credit, must soon respond, "No funds;" so with a farm similarly treated.

Wisdom is never dear, provided the article be genuine. I have known farmers who toiled constantly from daybreak to dark, yet died poor, because, through ignorance, they wrought to disadvantage. If every farmer would devote two hours of each day to reading and reflection, there would be fewer failures in farming than there are. The best investment a farmer can make for his children is that which surrounds their youth with the rational delights of a beauteous, attractive home. The dwelling may be small and rude, yet a few flowers will embellish, as choice fruit trees will enrich and gladden it; while grass and shade are within the reach of the humblest. Hardly any labor done on a farm is so profitable as that which makes the wife and children fond and proud of their home.

A good, practical education, including a good trade, is a better outfit for a youth than a grand estate with the drawback of an empty mind. Many parents have slaved and pinched to leave their children rich, when half the sum thus lavished would have profited them far more had it been devoted to the cultivation of their minds, the enlargement of their capacity to think, observe and work. The one structure that no neighborhood can afford to do without is the schoolhouse.

A small library of well-selected books in his home has saved many a youth from wandering into the baleful ways of the prodigal son. Where paternal strictness and severity alone have bred nothing but dislike and a fixed resolve to abscond at the first opportunity, good books and pleasant surroundings have weaned many a youth from his first wild impulse to go to sea or cross the continent, and made him a docile, contented, happy laggard by the parental fireside. In a family, however rich or poor, no other good is so cheap or so precious as thoughtful, watchful love.

Most men are born poor, but no man who has average capacities and tolerable opportunities, need remain so. And the farming calling, though proffering no sudden leaps, no ready short cuts to opulence, is the surest of all from poverty and want, to comfort and independence. Other men must climb; the temperate, frugal, diligent, provident farmer may grow into competence and every external accessory to happiness. Each year of his devotion to his homestead may find it more valuable, more attractive than the last, and leave it better still.

There are discoveries in natural science and improvements in mechanics which conduce to the efficiency of agriculture; but the principles which underlie this first of arts are old as agriculture itself. Greek and Roman sages made observations so acute and practical that the farmers of today may ponder them with profit while modern literature is padded with essays on farming not worth the paper they have spoiled. And yet the generation whereof we are part has witnessed great strides in this vocation, while the generation preparing to take our places will doubtless witness still greater. I bid you hold fast to the good, with minds receptive of and eager for the better, and rejoice in the knowledge that there is no nobler pursuit and no more inviting soil than those which you proudly call your own.

COLORADO CITY

REVIVAL SERVICES BY THE REV. MR. HALE

The Rev. H. M. Hale, who is conducting revival services in this city, said last night in the course of his sermon on "What Have I to Do With Thee?":

"The thought of our Saviour that no man can live unto himself or die unto himself is being realized today as never before. We feel the keenness of our responsibility as Christians. The weight of responsibility has been largely removed from the priest to the people. This is not a one man's business, but it belongs to all of us.

"The Saviour tells us of a man that made ready for his friends, and invited them to come and they gave excuses. Then he said for his servants to go into the highways and bid them come. He gave us a charge to go to men and tell them of this wonderful feast for the soul. It is your duty to do this. You can not say I have labor that takes me away. If you do, you may find yourself left out in the Day of Judgment.

"Go out and warn that man that is out of Christ. You have friends; you have an influence that I have not. Are you less responsible than I am? I stand up here every night and tell men of sin; I speak to them when I can in private. What a grand work it is to save men from sin.

"A young man once said to Mr. Moody, 'I have no confidence in Christianity.' 'Why,' said Mr. Moody, 'do you not believe in your mother's religion?' 'No,' was the sad reply, 'she lives in a church which teaches that those who die out of Christ are lost, and she has never spoken a word to me. You see, she does not believe it, or else she would have spoken to me, her son.'

"We can not get away from the life we live, the belief to which we hold. Let us live up to our belief."

BEVERIDGE WAS INTERRUPTED

Senator Beveridge of Indiana never answers directly when requested by some colleague to yield the floor for a moment. His replies on such occasions are invariably of an oratorical character. One day he was in the midst of a most eloquent flight when Senator Pettus of Alabama, who is not a great admirer of the Indiana man, rose and asked leave to interrupt. "Nothing can ever afford me a greater pleasure," said Mr. Beveridge "than to yield to the distinguished and able senator from Alabama, who never makes a speech himself or interrupts the speech of another senator without adorning it with a brilliant radiance." Pettus stood there, with his jaws crunching the inevitable cud of tobacco until Beveridge had finished the sentence, and then said: "Mr. President, I move we adjourn." And they adjourned and left Beveridge's speech up in the air.

Holbrook & Perkins

COMMITTED SUICIDE DURING FIT OF TEMPORARY INSANITY

Evidence Convinces Authorities That E. Crane Wilson Took His Life While Mentally Unbalanced---Inquest to Be Held Today---Results of Autopsy.

Coroner D. F. Law will summon a jury this morning and hold an inquest upon the remains of E. Crane Wilson, who committed suicide near Manitou Junction Sunday afternoon by shooting himself through the brain. The inquest will begin at 2:30 o'clock, and the witnesses that have been subpoenaed are Milton Ingraham, deputy clerk of the district court, Frank Collins and John Wilder, who discovered the body as they were driving into the city; E. Colvin, an employe at the Kenyon stables who delivered the horse to Mr. Wilson when he started on the fateful ride and who received the horse upon its return to the barn. Clarence Spencer, cousin of the deceased, has not been subpoenaed to appear before the jury.

Result of Postmortem.

Dr. H. L. Richardson made a post-mortem examination yesterday afternoon, assisted by Drs. Hanford and Timmons. It was found that the bullet which caused death was of 38 calibre and had entered the head two inches back and half an inch above the right ear. Passing through the brain, the ball entered the skull two inches above the left ear, shattering the bone, and fell into the brain cavity.

The authorities have been making a thorough investigation and are fully convinced that death was due to suicide while Mr. Wilson was temporarily insane. Shortly before Mr. Wilson came to this city from Chicago two years ago, charges of insanity were made against him by his son, Eldredge Wilson, and the charges were based upon the peculiar actions of the father at that time. It is also known that Mr. Wilson was a great sufferer from kidney disease which might have affected his mind.

Insanity Proofs.

In support of the insanity theory a peculiar letter has been found in the handwriting of the deceased evidently written shortly before he started upon the fatal ride last Sunday. This letter is now in the possession of Coroner D. F. Law and will be presented to the jury today. It is a rambling statement without point or meaning, and shows clearly the mental condition of the writer.

In support of the insanity theory comes the statement of Milton Ingraham, deputy clerk of the district court, who is probably the last man that saw E. C. Wilson alive. Mr. Ingraham was returning to Colorado Springs from a visit to his ranch east of the city. In an interview yesterday Mr. Ingraham said:

"I was driving west along the upper or Boulder street road and when about 100 yards west of the Colorado & Southern main line I met Mr. Wilson. He asked the quickest way to reach the lower road, leading from Manitou Junction to Prospect lake. I pointed out the turning to him and then drove on toward town. As I glanced back to see if he took the road I pointed out, I saw him turn south on the road near the railroad track and by following that road he would have no difficulty in reaching Prospect lake. I especially noticed that he appeared to be almost frozen; his face was blue and pinched with the cold; his coat and vest were buttoned up close, but he wore no overcoat.

Officers Visit Scene.

Coroner Law and Under Sheriff Dayton visited the scene of the suicide at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and made a diligent search for clews by moonlight and with the lights from an automobile to assist them. Deputy Coroner Anderson pointed out the spot where the body was found and a small pool of blood where the head was resting. A large pool of blood was found where the horse had been standing, about two blocks from where the body was found.

Police Chief Adams and Detective Shultz visited the scene early yesterday morning and made a careful examination of the surroundings, and the conclusion reached by all of these officials is that Mr. Wilson committed suicide while temporarily insane.

Not only is the watch and chain missing, but whatever money Mr. Wilson might have had with him—possibly $50—his lead pencils, cards, keys and even the key to his room at the Alta Vista hotel are also missing. This has led to the belief that before shooting his horse and killing himself, Mr. Wilson threw away these articles. The position of the body and the hat worn by the deceased indicate that he was in a sitting posture when he fired the shot that caused his death.

Saying and Doing are two things but it's an easy matter for the up-to-date business man to marry "Saying" to "Doing," and so make them one.

We, for instance, are constantly saying things about the goodness of our Coffees, and we're doing things all the time that fully uphold all that we're saying about them.

We prefer doing things to saying things, however, so, in order to show how well our "doings" DO do, we point to the ever-increasing sale of our Mexican Brand of Mocha and Java, 35 cents a pound. We roast it every day, which proves that the union of "doing" to "saying" is an accomplished fact in our store. We roast daily.

TRIED TO CUT NEGRO MINER WITH A KNIFE

Pete Wilson and William Cobb, negro miners employed at the Danville mine, had a few hot words late Saturday night, during which the former drew a bowie knife and attempted to carve Cobb. Two other miners interfered and prevented Wilson from doing any serious damage. Wilson was arrested on West Huerfano street yesterday morning by Constable Harvey Gillingham upon a warrant issued by Justice Dumdington, and he will be arraigned before the court today to answer to a charge of attempt to kill.

SHORT LINE—STRIKE OFF

ALL GRIEVANCES OF ROAD'S EMPLOYES WILL BE SETTLED AMICABLY.

ARBITRATION COMMITTEE CERTAIN TROUBLE WILL NOT BE TIED UP—CONFERENCE TODAY.

According to a statement made to The Gazette last night by O. B. Garrison, spokesman of the arbitration committee sent here by the railroad orders to confer with Manager L. H. Waters of the Short Line, in regard to the grievances of that road's employes, the trouble will be settled amicably and there will be no strike.

At the close of yesterday's conference, which was held in Mr. Waters' office from 1 to 4:30 o'clock, General Manager Waters declined to give out any results of the conference or to discuss the situation.

"The trouble has not been settled," said Mr. Garrison last night, "but we have progressed far enough in the consideration of the grievances to be assured that no strike will be necessary to settle the matter. The minor details have not yet been worked out and I will not discuss the matter further until everything is settled."

This still leaves the question as to which side won, the Short Line or Midland Terminal employes, unanswered.

The arbitration committee will spend a number of days in Colorado Springs. They will hold another conference with Mr. Waters this afternoon and every day following until final settlement is effected.

Mr. Garrison is assistant grand chief of the Order of Railway Conductors.

While those interested are reticent, it is understood that it was mutually decided that the representatives of the railway orders should appoint one member of a committee, General Manager Waters another member, and that these two should select a third man, the three to determine what arrangement will be equitable. The decision of this committee is to be final.

Child's Life Saved By Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

I can recommend it in the highest terms as I have another child that was cured in the same way." Sold by all druggists.

PRINCIPAL RICHARDS AFTER FRATERNITIES

Principal J. R. Richards, of the High school, has announced that he will hold a meeting with the fraternity members of the school tomorrow and will make a vigorous investigation of the "frats." R. initiated a new member, and the meeting tomorrow will probably decide the question, "To be or not to be," with the High school fraternities.

A. E. CARLTON LOSES FIGHT

MACDERMID FACTION CLAIMS TWO-THIRDS OF ACACIA STOCK

J. F. BURNS REFUSES TO REPRESENT MR. CARLTON ON DIRECTORATE—SECOND MEETING TODAY.

For president, Kenneth M. Kenzie. For secretary and treasurer, K. MacDermid, the present incumbent.

For directors, five men friendly to the present management.

That is the slate which the MacDermid people intend to elect at the annual meeting of the Acacia stockholders today. They will probably succeed for they appear to have at least two-thirds of the proxies represented.

When the first session of the annual meeting was called to order yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Mr. MacDermid's offices in the Mining Exchange building, a lively scrimmage was precipitated. Twenty stockholders were present, evenly divided between MacDermid people and friends of A. T. Carlton, who is fighting MacDermid for control. Every man present had scores of proxies from more than any stockholders and some of the proxies were duplicates. Naturally, with sixty contested in every such case. A committee to canvass the proxies was appointed consisting of K. MacDermid, Frances J. Hobbs and Howard Masterson. The latter was named as representing the Carlton faction to whose support James F. Burns has rallied. As soon as this committee was appointed the meeting adjourned until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon when it was again adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The committee on proxies worked throughout the afternoon, keeping at the merry war until 8:30 o'clock last evening. At that hour Mr. MacDermid said: "It is demonstrated beyond a doubt that the present management has at least a two-thirds majority and that we will remain in control. As far as we can judge, at least 1,250,000 of the 1,440,000 shares are represented."

A shareholder friendly to the present management said: "We intended yesterday morning when we saw what was our strength to offer the minority represented by Mr. Carlton a representation of one member on the board of directors. We offered that membership to James F. Burns, as representing Mr. Carlton, and he refused to accept it. We then tendered the place to W. W. Price, who has been active in Mr. Carlton's fight, but Mr. Price refused. Both gentlemen insisted that the minority should have two of the five members. We can not see it that way and Mr. Carlton will not be represented on the directorate."

MacDermid and his friends do not expect that the number of proxies which Mr. Masterson may be able successfully to contest will influence the outcome of the fight.

Stubborn Coughs.

A cough which lingers on long after every other symptom of a cold has disappeared should have attention, as it indicates some throat or lung trouble and may result seriously. Mr. Alexander McMillan, of Maple Ridge, Mich., recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for this trouble. He says: "I used this remedy for a stubborn cough with the best results and think there is nothing like it. I cannot speak too highly of it." For sale by all druggists.

FIND EXTENSION OF A RICH VEIN

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 8.—An extension of the vein which has surrendered considerable ore in the Fountain Valley claim of the Banner Gold Mining company has been struck in the Mary Nevin claim north of the Banner.

The extension was discovered in prospecting at a point 100 feet south of the shaft on the 350 foot level of the Mary Nevin. The ore shoot has a width of 30 inches at the point of original exposure and seems to be of like width throughout the 30 feet it has been followed. Assays indicate a marketable quality and to obtain further proof a carload lot will be sent to market tomorrow for trial.

It is believed by Manager Jackson who, with others, holds a lease on the Mary Nevin, that the ore will yield in the neighborhood of an ounce of gold to the ton, perhaps a little more. Prospection is being conducted on both the 350 and 300 foot levels. At the latter depth another vein of good appearance and size is being followed. Streaks of ore are occasionally found which leads to belief that a shoot of marketable size and quality is not far removed.

JACKSON AND HUSTED OBTAIN A LEASE ON THE JULIA E. CLAIM

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 8.—Lease of the Julia E. claim of Raven hill has been obtained by Jackson & Husted of this city for two and one-half years at the usual rate of royalty.

Preparations are being made for exploration. On the bottom level at a depth of 200 feet a streak of ore is exposed for sixty feet. At some points it assays $100 in gold to the ton, but at no point is it quite wide enough to break at profit. It is believed that it will be found to have more width at depth. Another lift of 100 feet will be added to the shaft at the extremity of which a crosscut will be started toward the point at which this body can be found.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Colorado Springs Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Colorado Springs, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Colorado Springs kidney sufferers.

Mrs. E. P. Kennedy, of 24 North Willow street, says: "In the month of June, 1899, I gave for publication a testimonial about Doan's Kidney Pills after they had cured me of pain in my back. I cannot add anything to my original statement, except this: That what I said was absolutely true, and during the years elapsed since, I have not required the use of Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine. When Doan's Kidney Pills cured in my case, it was permanent. I have since recommended them to others."

Plenty more proof like this from Colorado Springs people. Call at D. T. Butcher Drug Co.'s store and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

THE GAZETTE ANNUAL—TEN CENTS EACH

JO DANDY MAY BUY NEW HAVEN

RUMOR THAT RAVEN HILL PROPERTIES ARE TO BE CONSOLIDATED IS AGAIN REVIVED.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 8.—There is prospect that the Jo Dandy Gold Mining company will yet acquire title to the property of the New Haven company adjoining it on the summit of Raven Hill.

Several months ago the Jo Dandy company bought the title from F. J. Hatch, of Indiana, who received it through an indebtedness. This title was not clear, however, so the Jo Dandy management negotiated with the New Haven company direct.

The Jo Dandy would buy about seven acres of the estate. The price to be paid is about $50,000. It is probable that the transfer will be made this month. One or more veins are common to both properties. The New Haven has surrendered considerable ore of good quality. It has been opened by shaft and drift to a depth of 300 or 400 feet. If bought, the New Haven will be subjected to prospection from the deeper workings of the Jo Dandy.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong.

He neglected to take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first signs of Kidney trouble, hoping it would wear away, and he was soon a victim of Bright's disease. There is danger in delay, but if Foley's Kidney Cure is taken at once the symptoms will disappear, the kidneys are strengthened and you are soon sound and well. A. R. Bass, of Morgantown, Ind., had to get up ten or twelve times in the night, and had a severe backache and pains in the kidneys and was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure. Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

GAVE MANY REASONS IN ASKING NEW TRIAL

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 8.—Fifty-eight reasons were advanced today by the defendant in the case of Mrs. Ada Van Why vs. D. H. Rice of Colorado Springs why a new trial should be granted.

The plaintiff obtained judgment for $5,000 in the district court four years ago for the loss of her husband who was killed in the Jo Dandy mine, owned by Coe & Rice. The case was taken to the supreme court and remanded here for retrial. Last week she again obtained a verdict of $5,000, which is to be contested.

A MODERN MIRACLE.

"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Mollie Holt of this place," writes J. O. R. Hooper, Woodford, Tenn., "she was so wasted by coughing up pus from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her family had watched by her bedside forty-eight hours, when, at my urgent request, Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, with the astonishing result that improvement began, and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman today." Guaranteed cure for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 at the Hefley-Arcularius Drug company. Trial bottle free.

STRIKE REPORT IS CONFIRMED

HENRY ADAMS MINE OF BEACON HILL GULCH HAS WIDE VEIN OF RICH ORE.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 8.—M. R. Burke, of Colorado Springs, who has been here during the last two days, confirms the report of a strike made several weeks ago in the Henry Adams mine of Beacon hill gulch of which he is manager. The body, he says, has a width of 14 to 26 feet, is independent of shoots heretofore encountered and is streaked with much material of marketable quality. Not all of the body is worthy of shipment, while that shipped yields in the neighborhood of $35 in gold to the ton. This vein was encountered in prospecting on the bottom level at a depth of 600 feet. It has been followed horizontally for 35 feet or farther. In the course of a few weeks Mr. Burke expects to find the C. K. & N. shoot, a crosscut having proceeded toward it for considerable distance on the bottom level. Several fortunes have been taken from this vein in neighboring properties.

GERMAN BARON GETS MARRIED

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 8.—It was in putting the question as to whether the applicant had supplied his full name that the clerk of the marriage license bureau learned today that the privilege to wed was being issued to a German baron. The applicant was Baron Frederick Stickxell or Florissant and his bride was Mrs. Marie Holman of Denver. They were married by Justice Lewis.

The baron left the estate of his father twenty years ago, when 22 years of age, and settled in Colorado. He acquired land at Florissant to which he added in later years, and now has a property comparing favorably in size with that of his ancestors across the water. He admitted to the license clerk that he had long kept his relatives in ignorance of his whereabouts for reasons he did not divulge, but recently they had found him out, as was shown by a letter in his possession. A few residents of Florissant have known of the title for many years, but in deference to Stickxell's inclinations, which are thoroughly American, and to his wishes, they have not made use of it, some of his intimates calling him "Fred."

The baron and his bride spent part of their honeymoon in Cripple Creek. They will make their home on the ranch.

VICTOR BOY ENDED LIFE

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Jan. 8.—William Kranz, 22 years of age, shot and killed himself this morning.

Until a month ago he had been employed by the Moore Mercantile company as a grocery clerk. It is known that he had been depressed by inability to get work, but whether or not this inspired his final act is not known.

He had been living at the home of his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rogers, 207 South Third street. He entered a bedroom at 10 o'clock this morning without saying anything of his intention. A minute later a shot was heard. His mother, who ran to the room, arrived in time to see him collapse in the last agony of death. A brother and a married sister live here.

THINKS PRESENT MORAL CONDITIONS ARE BAD.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Madison, Wis., says:

Speaking for the American Bible society in the Congregational church last night, President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota, said:

"It was well for this country that the founders of New England were narrow, bigoted and intolerant, for they founded its civilization upon the enduring laws of the bible. Had some low moral tone then prevailed as now governs in our political, social and financial life the nation never would have developed to its present spiritual or material greatness."

ACTIVE MARKET

Movement in Prices, However, Was Unexpectedly Narrow Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—There was a very broad and active market for stocks today as is obvious from the day's total transactions. The movement of prices, however, was rather unexpectedly narrow, the tendency to advance being repressed by the free tendering of the new demand on the part of the previous holders of stocks in order to take profits. Prices were opened higher in most cases but in some instances fractions gave about profit taking promptly at the opening. The new demand was so broad and confident as to afford opportunity for several scalping forays the first hour without resorting to any strong artificial support for the market and the realizing was pursued without restraint until a very general yielding of prices was perceptible. There was a very manifest growth of public interest in the market at the opening which was naturally induced by the progressive strength shown last week. There was a general inrush of buying orders this morning from miscellaneous sources. The moderate effect which this buying was allowed to produce on prices was a demonstration of the extent of the realizing which was going on. London advices reported that there was extensive selling of American securities in that market, before the opening here. This was attributed to the closing out of some large accounts which had been transferred from New York to London during the period of acute money stringency here. The stocks thus sold in London came back upon the market to a very large amount when the stock exchange session opened. Money was much more freely offered but the decline in rates did not make much progress below the level reached last week. It became evident that some of the large operators who had held stubbornly to their stocks through the severe money stringency of December, instead of taking advantage of the relation in money to extend their holdings, were inclined to lighten their loads. This action suggested that the coming of easier rates for money had been awaited for its stimulating effect on outside demand for securities to afford a basis for profit taking rather than for an extension of speculative operations on the part of last month's operators. The week started with a contribution to the money market from the subtreasury operations of $2,498,000. The rates for time loans relaxed together with the easier rates for call money. New York exchange at Chicago, however, showed a yielding tendency. The day's realizing was most conspicuous in stocks which have already enjoyed the most striking advances. The copper and smelting stocks and the Pacifics were notably affected. The strong features on the other hand were stocks which had not been pushed up in last month's speculation. The trunk line railroads, Atchison and a number of industrials were the notable examples. The selling to realize recurred persistently—many stocks touching the lowest prices of the day in the final hour and the gains in the strong issues materially reduced or wiped out. The closing was confused and irregular and very active.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par values, $4,755,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

MARKET IS HEAVY

Wheat Opens Firm but Declines---Corn Dull but Firm---Oats Lasy.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Sentiment in the wheat pit at the opening was fairly bullish. The May delivery being unchanged to a fraction higher at 87½ to 87⅝. During the first half hour or so traders purchased moderately and their demand carried the price of May up to 87⅞. The world's shipments were small, being over half a million bushels less than last week, and the amount of breadstuff on ocean passage decreased 3,000,000 bushels. Reports from Russia declaring more serious damage had been done the winter crop. From Argentina came reports of further delay to harvesting because of rain. These factors in conjunction with a steady market in Liverpool caused the early firmness on the board here. Before the end of the first hour however, the market commenced to weaken. Several commission houses were free sellers and many local bulls followed their lead. This started a decline which carried the May option down to 86⅞. During the last half hour commission houses made active bids for wheat, and this caused a recovery of a large part of the earlier loss. Practically the only news of a bearish character during the day was an increase in the visible supply larger than had been estimated. The figures showing a total of 2,382,000 bushels in sight. The market closed steady with May at 87⅛.

Trading in the corn pit was extremely dull, but the market had a firm tone. There was good buying by several prominent commission houses and some of the local bulls made fair purchases. The visible supply increased 924,000 bushels, again, making a total of 1,630,000 bushels one year ago. News in general was rather favorable to the bears. The market closed firm with prices at almost the highest point of the day. May opened 1c higher at 44⅝, sold up to 44¾ and closed at 44⅝@⅞.

Local receipts were 245 cars.

The oats market was easy on moderate selling by pit traders. Offerings were taken mainly by cash houses. May opened unchanged to a shade lower at 32⅛@32⅜, sold off to 32⅛ and closed at 32⅛.

Provisions were in active demand by shorts and the market was strong. A local advance in the price of live hogs was the chief cause of the buying. At the close May pork was up 22½ at $14.12½. Lard was up 12½ at $7.75. Ribs were 10c higher at $7.65@$7.67½.

PERSONAL.

IN THE SUIT OF JAMES DOYLE VS. JAMES F. BURNS.

I feel that in the state of Colorado there are a hundred people or more familiar with the personal relations existing between James F. Burns and myself during the years 1891, 2 and 3, who would cheerfully aid and assist me with the facts that they are possessed of, but withhold them because they do not know how I would receive their tenders of the same. I want to say here that I will appreciate all such tenders, and receive them in the proper spirit. I am after all evidence that I can use in establishing the fact that we were partners during the years mentioned. I wish to say that I am a long way from being licked, and hope to be able to offset the power of the money that belongs to me with which he is fighting me, by a mass of evidence that will make him lay down and do the right thing.

ANITA RIO RECITAL.

Anita Rio gave the twelfth Artists' recital at Steinway hall last evening, and it was an occasion of rare delight to all musicians, for Miss Rio is an artist of rare attainments. Her voice is wonderfully clear, rich and brilliant, and has all the freshness of youth. Her program was chosen to show the exquisite quality of her voice, but there were moments when she was called upon to give out its full volume, and the power and brilliancy was truly electrical.—Duluth Evening Herald.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in Pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." Hefley-Arcularius Drug company.
